

Officer Hook

Born: February 12, 2019
Handler: Officer Ethan Boyd
Color: Black
Breed: Labrador Retriever
Favorite Toy: Anything that you throw that he can bring back.
Favorite Game: Fetch
Service: 2020-present

K-9 Officer Hook joined the Farmington Police Department in June of 2020 and was assigned to his handler, Officer Ethan Boyd. Officer Hook was bred in North Carolina through Anchor Canine Inc, which specifically breeds canines for detection as well as sporting dogs. Officer Boyd and Officer Hook started Drug Detection K9 School June 2020, completing the eight-week course at the Maine Criminal Justice Academy. Officer Hook is trained in drug detection including methamphetamines, crack, cocaine, and heroin as well as basic odors. Officer Hook is trained in obedience and for searches in vehicles, open areas, baggage/parcels, fields, and buildings. He enjoys spending hours of his day, working, swimming, and playing. Officer Hook is a very high drive (energy) partner.

- Within his first year of service, Officer Hook has had 5 positive indications.